

Research Lightning Talks

Content/Abstract. Research is crucial to inform climate action. This segment highlights current research that can help to inform citizen action, engagement, policy implementation and lawmaking. The next segment, through hands-on sessions, helps participants refine their messages for various audiences.